Saccharin and Its Uses.
(From the Standard.)
The curious product from coal-tar known as saccharin has been introduced by a French chemist two years ago.
When a factory for its production has been established in Western Union, near the old historic town of Mulberryburg, in Tennessee, Saccharin has become a valuable article of commerce. It is foundable a rival of cane and beet-sugar for many manufacturing purposes.
The French sugar manufacturers have been very much alarmed against it, and the Society of Agricultural Scientists has petitioned the Government to forbid its manufacture, as being prejudicial to the sugar industry. But though experiments have shown that it is not toxic.

"Golly! Humer!—just look at our son John, with them Green Ticket three dollar pants, that he bought from Anderson, Bisset's Store!"

*JOBS!*JOBS!JOBS! SIX BIG JOBS!

Don't Fail To See Them Before They Are All Gone!

JOB 1
Is a lot of Ladies and Misses Cloaks, bought at a recent closing out sale in Cincinnati, and are the cheapest goods you ever saw.

JOB 2
Is a lot of Mens Marino and Wool Underwear, from 25c apiece up.

JOB 3
Is a lot of Boot Samples from one of the best manufacturers in Boston. Will be sold at Manufacturer's cost.

JOB 4
Is a lot of Ladies Ribbed Marino Underwear at 50 cents a pair.

JOB 5
Is a lot of Ladies and Misses Toboggans—to come next week. Splendid goods at 30c to 50c a pair.

JOB 6
Is a lot of all-wool Scarlet Blankets at $3.25 and a lot of all-wool Scarlet Flannel at 25c.

But the Biggest Thing We Now Have is Our "Green Ticket 3 Dollar Pants!"
Did you ever see these? No? Well, they are all wool, well made of fine handsome casimere—and are just as pants you pay five dollars for. Why any man should pay five dollars for a pair of pants, when by buying our "Green Ticket 3 Dollar" pants he can get a pair just as good, can only be accounted for by the fact that he has never seen these goods. If you don't need a pair of pants now, drop in and see them, so you will know what they are when you need them. They are on our list with our Wear-forever shoes, and like them, can only be had at ANDERSON'S BAZAAR. In addition to the above we have just received a big lot of

The Republicans propose to stir up the ferment to arouse night, and Expert Plumber Neal has been engaged to stir the cannon and blow his breath down the touch-hole, which will immediately explode it.

The entertainment given by Miss Dora Gibson and society, at Route, on the evening of the 10th, was a success. Every sense of the world. The young ladies and gentlemen enjoyed superior ability in their different duties, the recitations, readings and essays being well selected and admirably rendered. "The Rising South," a paper edited by Miss Ragland, added much interest to the occasion. The "day drill" consisting of 16 small ships, is deserving of special mention, since their perfect training in performing a large number of intricate figures in complete unison, elicited wonder and admiration from the entire audience. A number from Sulphur Springs, Spring Lake and other adjoining towns were present, and all seemed to enjoy the occasion thoroughly, availing themselves of the opportunity to visit the town of Route and students under the gift of entertainment in the highest degree.

McKendree Owen was shot and killed about midnight at the residence of Bartlett's President on the day of the recent election by Leonard Elmore, son of Joel Elmore. Both are young men about 25 years old, and unmarried. The trouble had been brewing for several months past. It originated over a public notice in the paper, at which Elmore took some exception. It seems that Elmore wrote a reply to said publication, but did not publish it, but published it privately, ready to the dissatisfaction of Owen. Owen demanded of Elmore while at the election, to either destroy it or have it published. Elmore refused to do so, and the trouble started from this consideration, and resulted in Elmore shooting and fatally wounding Owen. By listening to the Commercially, we learn that Elmore is guilty of murder in the first degree. But the defense is not very strong. The full particulars of the case will be given in our next issue. He will likely be held over for trial.

back was our immense trade in sheep last season that we have made a SPECIALTY this year of cloaks. We propose this year that every lady in this county shall have a chance to buy a cloak at this place.

Weddings.

HARTFORD-BRECHMAN. G. W. Hamilton, Taylor Mills and Miss Lela Buchanan, Owensville, Ind., are to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the happy home left for the groom's home in Hartsville on Wednesday, Nov. 11, 1888. The marriage will take place in the church. They will leave for Kentucky immediately after the ceremony. The bride will reach McHenry Friday at noon where a reception will be tendered them by Mr. W. G. Dumas.

PENNINGTON-BRECHMAN. Mr. John Ed Pennington, Cherokee, Kan., and Miss Lucien Freeman, of Princeton, will be married at the home of the bride to day. They will be tendered a reception at Dr. J. E. Pennington's this evening.

DR. J. E. PENNINGTON. On Wednesday morning, the 9th inst., at the residence of the young lady's father, Rev. G. W. Dennis, Jeffersonville, Ind., Miss Ollie Dennis will be united in marriage to Mr. John Ed Pennington, Cherokee, Kan. Miss Dennis is a beautiful and highly cultured young lady, and Mr. Pennington is a young man of good family and of high standing in his life's profession.

Wanted.

A position as a general blacksmith. I can do all kinds work in this line. Horse shoeing made a specialty. I can give the best of reference. Reply, JAMES MURRAY.

Speaking.

On Monday night, November 13, Dr. W. B. Hayward will lecture at the College Chapel in Hartford. Subject: "Elements of Success." This is one of Dr. Hayward's best lectures, and will be well worth hearing.

A Great Offer.

From now until December 1st, we will furnish to our subscribers the HERALD one year for $2.00. The price of the Herald one year is $3.00. This is a great advantage to this offer. The Herald for one year is a most valuable and interesting publication. It stands boldly in the front of independent thought. It is short and snappy. It is full of public opinion—social, moral and political. As an independent publication, it has no superior. Old subscribers who have for one year, or any subscribers who have the benefit of this offer.

Farmers!

We will take wheat, corn, oats and hay for your winter goods.
